

CONSTRUCTION LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

The California Chapter of the Construction Leadership Council was launched in April, 2003 in conjunction with AGC of California's hosting the AGC of America CLC Nationwide Annual Spring Working Weekend held in Long Beach.

Since then the California Chapter of the CLC continues to grow as AGC of California member companies discover the benefits of participation by their young constructors.

CLC participants enjoy a wide array of cutting edge educational and networking opportunities that benefit not only these future leaders, but their companies as well.

"As an up-and-coming construction professional, being part of the CLC has been a wonderful experience for me. ...One of the aspects I really appreciate are the great speakers leadership is able to get to talk to us about new construction issues and legislation as well as getting a third party point of view while visiting other work sites."

– Luke Walker, The Griffith Company

"The CLC has been extremely valuable to our company...It provides opportunities for our employees to connect with others in the industry ...is an informative resource...and provides training in our field. The CLC is a fantastic way to get connected in the industry, and we are always welcoming to new members and new ideas."

– Robert B. Cowan, President, Marina Landscape, Inc.

THE CONSTRUCTION LEADERSHIP COUNCIL (CLC)

IS A NATIONWIDE AGC ORGANIZATION...

that provides young constructors an open forum in which to get educational training, network to establish working relationships with peers, and exchange ideas on the special issues facing early and mid-career construction professionals. AGC of California CLC membership encourages a higher level of involvement in the AGC, creates and promotes industry innovations, fosters face-to-face collaboration among young professionals, addresses important industry issues and concerns, and provides crucial feed back to the AGC of California leadership which will help structure the AGC of the 21st Century.
