Construction Leadership Council Changes Policies in 2009

As we wrote in the last issue of the CLC e-Newsletter, AGC can longer offer CLC membership for free. Beginning in 2009 if an AGC member company wants to participate in the CLC, the COMPANY, not individuals, will be charged a $200 participation fee annually. This CLC membership will enable the company to enroll as many of their eligible employees as they wish to participate. CLC membership benefits are:

- No limit to the number of participants from any company.
- 50% off registration fees at AGC's State spring and fall conferences for individuals enrolled as CLC participants.
- Educational opportunities at costs well below the norm.
- Informational mixers scheduled in the early evening.
- Annual working weekends that offer multiple seminars and workshops, special speakers, all meals including a Friday night group dinner, and a construction site tour for under $100 per person.

If there's any indication that your company may not join, we urge you to speak to your supervisors and let them know about the many benefits of participating in the CLC. AGC of California is here to help their members on all levels.

CLC Growth Brings More Changes Mixers Scheduled for Northern California

In order to provide even better services to its members, AGC of California's CLC is now expanding into Northern California.

The first introductory "CLC Kick-Off" Mixer is scheduled for Thursday, January 22, 2009 at about 6 PM in the Bay Area. The place has yet to be determined, but several members of the CLC Steering Committee have committed to attend. This will be a perfect time for prospective participants to test the waters and find out what the CLC has to offer.

Registration flyers will be coming out of the Bay Area District office in early January. If you know of any AGC members who may be interested pass on the registrations or, if you're going to attend, invite them along. See Calendar for all scheduled 2009 CLC events.

NEWS from AGC of America's Construction Leadership Council

National CLC Steering Committee now taking applications

CONSTRUCTION LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

It has been another successful year for the Construction Leadership Council (CLC) and they are now in search of new steering committee members. As members' terms are limited to three years, we are in search of new members for the steering committee. Attached are the guidelines for the CLC steering committee. Please note that there is a time commitment to the steering committee. All members are asked to participate in two committee meetings per year (AGC of America Annual Convention and the Working Weekend).

Currently we have five vacancies that we will need to fill. If you are interested in participating in the national steering committee please complete the profile by January 9, 2009.

We look forward to your participation in the steering committee. If you have any questions please contact Carolyn Cooney at cooneyc@agc.org.

The CLC bids farewell to outgoing CLC Chair Parting thoughts from Erwin Villegas

To all CLC of California Members...

I just wanted to thank the CLC Steering Committee Members and all the CLC member participants for a great year. Our working weekend was the most successful to date. This year we were also able to begin spreading CLC participation into Northern California as well as see the AGC San Diego Chapter start their own Construction Leadership Council.

We are rapidly growing this organization and look forward to perhaps having joint events with the CLC of San Diego. I would like to encourage everyone to congratulate and support Tim Nunn of the Penhall Company as he takes over the CLC Chair position in 2009. We have had a successful 2008 and look forward to an even better 2009. Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!!
