

The Key Role of Construction in Georgia's Economy

- The industry employed 225,300 workers in December 2007, 5% of the state's nonfarm employment of 4,171,000 and an increase of 1% from one year before. Nationally, construction accounted for 5% of nonfarm employment but fell 2.9% over the year as homebuilding shrank.
- Construction contributed $20 billion to state GDP of $380 billion in 2006.
- Annual pay in 2006 in construction averaged $41,838, 3% more than the private sector average of $40,804. Nationally, construction pay averaged $44,496, 5% more than the national private sector average of $42,414.
- Small business is big in construction. Georgia had 22,228 construction firms in 2005, of which 91% employed fewer than 20 workers. In addition, Georgia had 104,657 construction firms without employees, mainly sole proprietorships, in 2005.
- Georgia's population grew 2.2% from July 2006 to July 2007, 5th fastest of all states; the national growth rate was 1%. Population growth affects the demand for many types of construction.
