

The Key Role of Construction in Mississippi's Economy

- The industry employed 63,100 workers in December 2007, 5% of the state's nonfarm employment of 1,171,200 and an increase of 7% from one year before. Nationally, construction accounted for 5% of nonfarm employment but fell 2.9% over the year as homebuilding shrank.
- Construction contributed $4 billion to state GDP of $84 billion in 2006.
- Annual pay in 2006 in construction averaged $36,002, 17% more than the private sector average of $30,641. Nationally, construction pay averaged $44,496, 5% more than the national private sector average of $42,414.
- Small business is big in construction. Mississippi had 4,939 construction firms in 2005, of which 90% employed fewer than 20 workers. In addition, Mississippi had 31,133 construction firms without employees, mainly sole proprietorships, in 2005.
- Mississippi's population grew 0.7% from July 2006 to July 2007, 30th fastest of all states; the national growth rate was 1%. Population growth affects the demand for many types of construction.
