Conference Overview

The AGC Federal Contractors Conference is the only national event where contractors and Federal agency personnel can meet in a collaborative forum to review Federal construction contracting issues and trends from around the United States. These insightful and highly productive exchanges have solidified the need for both Federal construction contractors and the Federal construction agencies to share information on a wide variety of issues, foster better communication, and create real solutions.

Who Should Attend

General contractors, specialty contractors, service/suppliers, attorneys and other stakeholders already engaged in the Federal or Federally assisted markets, as well as anyone interested in learning more about contracting opportunities in these areas and how to get started. AGC chapter leadership and staff are strongly encouraged to attend.

Special New Conference Format!

New this year is the inclusion of separate concurrent tracks that highlight each of the unique Federal and Federally assisted markets. The first track highlights Water Infrastructure, and includes meetings with agencies such as the Environmental Protection Agency and the Army Corps of Engineers - Civil Works Directorate. The second track focuses on Federal Facilities construction, which includes meetings with the General Services Administration and the Military Construction agencies of the Department of Defense. Highway and Transportation rounds out the final track, which includes meetings with the Federal Highway Administration, the Federal Aviation Administration and the transit and rail agencies.

If you have any questions regarding the 2010 AGC Federal Contractors Conference or sponsoring an event at the Conference, please contact the AGC of America's Federal & Heavy Construction Division Staff:

Capitol Hill Visits

Constituent visits are vital to a successful advocacy strategy on Capitol Hill. Given the pressing legislation currently being considered in Congress, it is imperative that your elected officials are aware of AGC's position on issues of importance to the construction industry. The AGC Federal Contractors Conference provides an excellent opportunity for legislators to hear directly from their constituents on the importance of infrastructure funding and removing onerous government mandates that stifle economic growth for construction contractors.

Once you register for the conference, AGC staff will contact you on your willingness to participate in these important meetings and can be available to arrange meetings with your Representative and Senators for you on the afternoon of April 28th. In addition, AGC will make our Government Affairs staff available to accompany you on visits if you wish.

For more information on Capitol Hill Visits or to request help in scheduling a meeting email legislative@agc.org.

This is the premier event of the year for Federal contractors. The opportunity to interact with industry professionals and government clients offers attendees a unique venue to more fully understand and appreciate the challenges facing both your clients and peers.
