

The STP Instructor Training Workshop

February 5-6, 2008
Arlington, Virginia

Program Overview

AGC of America has been the leader in educating construction site supervisors through its Supervisory Training Program (STP) for over 30 years. Developed, updated and field-tested by contractors, the STP curriculum provides skills that are crucial to a project's success and supplies information every foreman and supervisor must know to make decisions quickly and confidently in the field. The STP Instructor Training Workshop provides essential skills necessary to train these dynamic industry leaders.

Who Should Attend?

Individuals who:

- Want to learn specific techniques used to facilitate and present successful STP courses.
- Administer STP currently and want to attract more instructors.
- Want to learn about this highly successful educational program for the construction industry.
- Want to start STP in your area or at your company.
- Have just been (or want to be!) selected to facilitate STP.

The workshop consists of:

- Two full days of expert instruction.
- One Instructor's Guide which includes the Participant's Manual for STP Unit 1: Leadership and Motivation
- A copy of the Instructor Resource Guide CD-ROM, as well as a printed version.
- The workshop handbook with all course material and presentations.
- Breakfast and lunch on both days.

Participants will learn how to:

- Effectively teach adult learners.
- Encourage interaction among participants.
- Get the most out of instructor materials.
- Incorporate visual aids into the curriculum.
- Prepare for and conduct STP courses.
