

The Economic Impact of Construction in the United States and Washington

Economic Impact of Construction:

- U.S. gross domestic product (GDP)—the value of all goods and services produced in the country—totaled $23.0 trillion in 2021; construction contributed $959 billion (4.2%).
- In Washington, construction contributed $29 billion (4.3%) of the state’s GDP of $668 billion.
- There were 872,000 construction establishments in the U.S. in 2021, including 28,500 in Washington. (An establishment is a fixed business location; about 99% of construction firms have only one establishment.)

Construction Spending:

- Nonresidential spending in the U.S. totaled $823 billion in 2021 ($486 billion private, $338 billion public).
- Residential construction spending in the U.S. totaled $803 billion ($423 billion single-family, $101 billion multifamily, $269 billion improvements, $9 billion public).
- Private nonresidential spending in Washington totaled $8.1 billion in 2021. State and local spending totaled $12.2 billion. (Totals are not available for residential, railroad, power, communication, or federal construction spending).

Construction Employment (Seasonally Adjusted):

- Construction (residential + nonresidential) employed 7.7 million workers in August 2022, an increase of 311,000 (4.2%) from August 2021, and 1.1% more than in February 2020, the peak pre-pandemic month.
- Construction employment in Washington in August 2022 totaled 238,200, an increase of 14,900 (6.7%) from August 2021, and an increase of 14,700 (6.5%) from February 2020.
- Contractors are having trouble filling positions, impeding the industry’s recovery. In the August 2022 AGC-Autodesk Workforce Survey, 93% of firms in the U.S. and 100% in Washington had unfilled hourly craft positions.

Construction Industry Pay:

- Construction jobs pay well. In Washington, 3 of the 5 most numerous construction occupations had higher median annual pay than the median for all employees in the state in 2021. (Half of workers earn more than the median; half earn less.)
